Move your back-end to the store-front

Cutting edge technology

evision delivers cutting edge e-commerce technology to medium and large businesses. Our system gives you all of the trusted ERP logic you need to drive a modern professional business – online. Built using standard components, the solution is optimized for your company. It is then freely scalable so it grows and changes right along with your needs and business model.

Integration with standard components

e-commerce with standard components may be nothing new. What is new, however, is integration to your finance system using standard components. No more expensive integration that requires programming from the bottom up. And the integration components can, of course, be tailored to meet your specific needs.

Scalability and flexibility

Our solution is based on security, customization and scalability. Complex infrastructure and integration are no problem. Your business can adapt to the ever-changing market without changing your e-handle solution. And the system can grow right along with the needs of your business. Plus, it includes powerful tools for targeted resale and add-on sales – everything you need to harness the power of the internet to increase sales and service. Welcome to the evision world.

Security, performance and stability

Information is transferred between your website and your ERP system via a standard encryption xml protocol (SOAP). This gives you the optimal protection from unwelcome guests. In addition, evision uses dual data-bases. This ensures 24-hour operation of your website even if the ERP system is offline.

Easy to switch between Microsoft Dynamics ERP systems
Changing finance systems? No problem. Replace just a few integration components and you can continue to use your integrated solution with your new finance system. In other words, evision e-commerce secures your investment at a very low cost.

(e-)Business as usual – stay in your comfort zone

You can continue to maintain item master data from your ERP system via evision's software. And if you've got a .NET based CMS system, you can continue to use it to maintain your web data, as well. evision e-commerce and integration components are simply installed between your back-end and your front-end. You get an end-to-end solution in no time.

Efficiency

An integrated e-commerce solution makes your business more efficient and automated. No more redundant tasks or double data entry. Item descriptions and prices are entered one place – your ERP system. From there it's automatically updated on the web. Inventory is accurate at all times and your e-business now benefits from all the automated processes of your ERP system.

Service on-demand Make relevant ERP data available to your customers. They can use it for self service, order and invoice history, order tracking and more. Now you're offering 24-hour service!

Unify your hard and soft data

Integration also unifies your data. "Hard" item data and "soft" business data is presented together. All information is easily accessible for the customer and your business seems forthcoming.

CMS. The freedom to choose!

It's up to you. You can choose our built-in CMS system or you can choose our evision e-commerce framework and combine it with your own .NET based CMS system.

The best of both worlds

evision e-commerce is a unique collaboration between ERP experts who have a deep knowledge of business logic and web programmers specializing in e-commerce. We integrate e-commerce directly into your company's ERP system.

This supports the administrative side of your business, and at the same time gives your sales and marketing department what they want – complete control over the visual and functional presentation of items and services on the net. This effective combination becomes your competitive advantage.
